NORTH VANCOUVER NEW B.C. RIDING PROVIDED FOR BY REDISTRIBUTION MEASURE

Bill to be Brought Before Commons by Committee Next Week; One New Winnipeg Seat; Five New Names in Alberta; Saskatchewan's Increase Five.

Ottawa, July 3.—It is understood the Redistribution Bill will be brought before the House on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. The schedules for the Western provinces have already been printed.

The Western proposals call for the creation of twelve new constituencies west of the Great Lakes.

In British Columbia, North Vancouver is to be a new constituency.

Four divisions in Winnipeg are provided for instead of three as now, namely, North, North Centre, South and South Centre. Manitoba is also to have another constituency in St. Boniface.

The proposals give Saskatchewan five new constituencies. Battleford is to be divided into North and South, the other constituencies being Long Lake, Melfort, Melville and Rosetown.

In Alberta five new names of constituencies appear, although the net increase is four, Acadia, Camrose, Peace River, Vegreville and Wetaskiwin.

Committee Report on Government Merchant Marine Is Before Commons

Suggestion is Made Steamship be Built for the Alaska Service

Ottawa, July 3.—The Federal Government, in the report of the Commons Committee on National Railways and Merchant Marine, is requested to endeavor to discover ways and means, in view of the existing conditions of the cattle trade with Great Britain, to keep down the cost of cattle transportation.

In regard to the Great Lakes grain trade, the committee is of the opinion that the type of construction of the vessels of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine is such that they can not economically compete in this trade under normal conditions.

$900,000 VOTE
A unanimous recommendation that the House should vote $900,000 contained in the estimates to make up the deficit on the operations of the Merchant Marine for the fiscal year which will end with March, 1925, is contained in the report, which draws attention to the fact that the amount requested is $600,000 less than the vote of last year.

CHILLED MEAT TRADE
The committee urges the Government to give serious consideration to the possibility of developing the chilled meat trade between Canada and Great Britain. It is pointed out that the ships trading between Argentina and Great Britain carry fifteen to thirty times more than the four ships of the Canadian Merchant Marine.

ALASKA SERVICE
New steamships for the Alaska service are suggested by the committee in order more fully to develop and protect the interests of the Canadian National Railways. The construction of a suitable steamship for that route is urged.

WEST INDIES
Regarding the West Indies trade, the report states:
"It is felt that passenger and freight business between Canada and the West Indies could be greatly increased if modern vessels with storage facilities could be provided for tropical fruit which could be marketed in Canada, but this business can not be secured without steamships of greater speed and cold storage facilities."
The committee recommends that the Government look into the possibilities of improving the passenger service to and from the West Indies.

Empire Preference Plan Discussed at London Meeting

London, July 3 (Canadian Press Cable).—Declaring Canada had been holding out an offer for imperial preference for twenty-seven years, T. R. Deacon, Winnipeg, told the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire here yesterday that Canada did not feel that the offer had been appreciated and would not continue to hold out an offer if there was no prospect of reciprocity.

The vote on resolutions urging the adoption of imperial preference was postponed until to-day.

STEVENS' SECRET PACT WITH PROVINCIAL PARTY REVEALED; B.C. CONSERVATIVES AT SEA

The Conservative Party's difficulty in choosing a leader to succeed W. J. Bowser were seriously complicated and Hon. H. H. Stevens' ambitions to assume the leadership received a crushing blow to-day when the contents of a letter written by Mr. Stevens showing that he was in secret league with the Provincial Party during the recent provincial election was made public by Liberal campaign managers.

In this letter, the effect of which has been known to the Liberal Party for some time, Mr. Stevens makes the striking admission that he will support the Conservative Party in British Columbia during the campaign then about to commence "no matter how distasteful the task may be."

Mr. Stevens further adds in his remarkable letter to the Provincial Party that he is "keeping in close touch with Senator Taylor." Senator Taylor is the publisher of The New Westminster British Columbian which was issued on several occasions as the official election organ of the Provincial Party.

"From time to time," Mr. Stevens promises the Provincials, "I will send you information as it comes along, which will be interesting to you."

"I expect," he says, "to be in Vancouver before very long as it is going to be necessary for me to help our party there all I can no matter how distasteful the task may be."

Mr. Stevens' secret alliance with the Provincial Party is well known to Mr. Bowser and to Conservative members, and their resentment at the Vancouver member's action is bitter. As one of the leading Conservatives who was here last week conferring with his colleagues about the choice of a new leader remarked to newspaper men, "If Harry Stevens ever had any chance of leading the party here he has lost it now. We will not have him at any price after what he did in the last election. His deliberate betrayal of the party is a disgrace. Mr. Bowser probably will not be leader any longer we can never overlook Mr. Stevens' action. So far as the interior Conservatives are concerned, we will not have Harry Stevens."

SPLIT ON RATES
Conservative members declare that Mr. Stevens not only secretly allied himself with the Provincials in an attempt to jettison Mr. Bowser, but that he deliberately embarrassed Mr. Bowser during the campaign by openly repudiating his policy on freight rates. While Mr. Bowser endorsed the freight rate fight, Mr. Stevens, in an amazing speech, declared that British Columbia was on the wrong track in its effort to reduce transportation costs, and that if rates were put on a really equitable basis this Province would have to pay heavier freight charges than it is paying now. To this complete split between the two most prominent Conservatives.

U.S. DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES TO MEET AGAIN TO-NIGHT IN EFFORT TO NAME CANDIDATE

On Fifty-fourth Ballot McAdoo had 427 Votes, Smith 320 1/2, Ralston 92 and Davis 62; Mississippi and Missouri Delegations Abandoned McAdoo Camp; Developments Please Smith's Managers.

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 3.—Twelve more ballots to-day apparently brought the Democratic National Convention here little nearer to an agreement on a nominee for the presidency of the United States.

About the only change in the situation when adjournment was taken until to-night was a further loss for McAdoo and a movement toward Ralston of Indiana, who had been brought forward as a compromise candidate but has made only slow progress toward the total necessary for a choice.

In spite of the loss of the Mississippi and Missouri delegations, who quit the McAdoo camp early in to-day's balloting, the McAdoo managers did not give up hope that the treacherous convention currents again would turn back to their candidate. They kept up a desperate struggle against dissolution of the large block of voting power they still commanded and for the most part their efforts were successful.

The Smith workers meantime appeared content with the showing made by the New York Governor, who about held his own during the day. The positions of the others were virtually unchanged except for a loss by John W. Davis of West Virginia, who was replaced by Ralston in third place.

The fifty-fourth ballot resulted as follows: McAdoo, 427; Smith, 320 1/2; Davis of West Virginia, 54; Underwood 29 1/2; Cox 54; Glass 24; Ralston 92; Robinson 42; Ritchie 16 1/2; Walsh 1; Saulsbury 6; Owen 4; F. D. Roosevelt 1; Governor Bryan 7. Total, 1,098.

FIFTY-SECOND BALLOT

The result of the fifty-second ballot was: McAdoo 417 1/2; Smith 320 1/2; Davis of West Virginia, 54; Underwood 29 1/2; Cox 54; Glass 24; Ralston 92; Robinson 42; Ritchie 16 1/2; Walsh 1; Saulsbury 6; Owen 4; F. D. Roosevelt 1; Governor Bryan 7. Total, 1,098.

For a candidate to secure nomination at least 732 votes are needed.
A SUGGESTION
Several members of the Democratic National Committee discussed to-day on the floor of the convention a suggestion that the committee should end the deadlock by pressing for the simultaneous public withdrawal of both Smith and McAdoo.

NEAR RECORD
When the convention reached the fifty-fourth ballot, the record for balloting at national conventions were eclipsed save one, namely, that of 1860, when Douglas was nominated on the fifty-seventh ballot.

LAKE LOUISE FIRE CAUSED HOTEL LOSS

Old Wing of Building Burned To-day; Two of Staff Slightly Injured
Calgary, July 3.—Fire wiped out the old wing of the Lake Louise Hotel this morning and threatened the new main structure for a time. All the guests escaped without injury and none of the members of the staff were slightly burned while fighting the flames.

The fire broke out about 10 o'clock and spread rapidly through the wooden wing which was the original hotel. Vigorous measures taken by the staff, who were assisted later by the members of the Banff fire department, prevented a spread of the flames.

Local officials give no estimate of the loss.
QUALITY COUNTS
"There would be more sense in that," said Mr. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, "it is loans of that kind that have broken every bank that has failed," referring to Mr. Coote's suggestion. "It is the quality, not the size of the loan that counts."

He said the plan would confine the handling of prairie grain to large banks.
A. R. McMaster, Liberal, Brome, Que., suggested that perhaps ten per cent. was too low, and Mr. Coote agreed to make it forty.

Eventually Mr. Coote withdrew his resolution.

TOO MANY CALLS ON PURSES OF M.P.'S

London, July 3 (Canadian Press)

Cable—Financial demands on members of Parliament by their constituents and others have led Major L. Hore-Belisha, Liberal, Plymouth, to introduce a bill in the House with the object of limiting the giving of donations and subscriptions by members of the Commons. The introduction, argued, amid laughter, that subscriptions were probably given with the desire that previously-obtained votes should not be lost.

LIVES SAVED BY OFFICER'S ACTION

British Gunboat Commander at Chinese Port Commended By M.P.'s

Demand Execution of Men Who Murdered United States Citizen

London, July 3.—George Lansbury, Labor member, asked in the House of Commons yesterday by whose authority the commander of a British gunboat had compelled under threat of bombardment the authorities of Wansien, China, to follow the funeral of Edwin C. Hawley, a United States employee of an export firm, who was murdered by Chinese bandits, and had demanded the execution of Hawley's murderers.

Frank Hodges, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, in reply said the gunboat was the only war vessel present and that its commander had taken the action which he had considered necessary. He added that the cheers of the Opposition, that the American Chamber of Commerce had thanked the British chief for his action.

There were cheers from the Opposition benches when Mr. Hodges said the British officer's action had materially assisted in saving life.

ADMIRAL EXPLAINS RECENT STATEMENT

Sir F. Field Says He Offered no Advice as to Canada's Navy

Stated Facts as Sailors See Them; Left Canada to Judge

Vancouver, July 3.—When the attention of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field was drawn to questions asked in the House of Commons at Ottawa criticizing a statement purporting to have been made recently in Victoria by the commander of the British Special Naval Service Squadron to the effect that Canada should equip four cruisers; two for service on the Atlantic and two for service on the Pacific, Admiral Field categorically denied he had made any such observation, saying he had not made specific reference as to what Canada's naval policy should be.

What Admiral Field said in Victoria was in reply to a direct question asked him in the course of an interview.

"What do you think Canada should have in the way of a navy?" Admiral Field was asked.

"I can't answer that question like that," he said. "I am not here to dictate to Canada or to offer gratuitous advice on matters of policy. All I can do in reply to such a question is to lay the plain facts before you as a sailor sees them and leave Canada to judge."

"I will put it to you in this way: If I were a Canadian farmer, depending for his living on overseas markets, or the head of a big Canadian commercial concern to which foreign trade meant everything, I should be anxious to see that my trade routes would be adequately protected in time of war. As to what naval force such protection might entail, it seems to me that two cruisers on this coast would be found invaluable should occasion arise. They would afford protection to the farmers' grain or the manufacturers' products part way to their markets, to a point where other ships of the British navy could pick them up."

WARSHIPS WILL BE GIVEN WELCOME

Many Craft Will Greet British Empire Squadron at San Francisco

Officers Will Seal Liquor Stores While Warcraft in That Port

San Francisco, July 3.—The British Special Naval Service Squadron, headed by the Hood, might set of battle cruisers, will be "dry" during its three-day visit to San Francisco. The fleet is due here from British Columbia July 7.

Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, K.C.B., in command of the squadron, has notified Gerald Campbell, British Consul-General here, that in deference to the Eighteenth Amendment and the California "dry" laws, a seal will be put on the liquor stores of the big sea fighters. The dispensing of liquor while the vessels are in the harbor would be no violation of the law, it was pointed out by authorities here, but the drought will be declared as a courtesy to the American people.

A noisy and colorful reception, to be participated in by all manner of gaily bedecked bay craft, a number of vessels of the United States Battle Fleet and land and air forces of the army and navy here, has been mapped out for the visitors.

San Francisco is the only mainland port of the United States at which the squadron will touch.

Mr. McNeil emphasized the value of the work being done by the official soldiers' advisers and advocated continuation of their work through a central office.

TO GIVE RULING ON LEMIEUX ACT

British Privy Council to Decide Toronto Hydro Arbitration Case

London, July 3 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to-day granted leave to appeal in the case of the Toronto Hydro-Electric Commission and the act was ultra vires of the Parliament of Canada, which was appointed to investigate a dispute between the commission and its employees.

Following the appointment of the board under the Industrial Disputes Act, the commissioners objected to the board and took the matter to the Appeal Court of Ontario, claiming the act was ultra vires of the Parliament of Canada as interfering with civil rights. The court, however, handed down judgment holding the act intra vires of the Parliament of Canada.

Counsel for the petitioners, in giving the reason of the commissioners for not appealing the decision of the Appeal Court of Ontario to the Supreme Court of Canada, said they considered the matter was of urgent importance and therefore had taken it direct to the Privy Council.

Edmund L. Newcombe, K.C., Deputy Minister of Justice of Canada, who intervened in the case in behalf of the Canadian Government, maintained that the appeal should be taken before the Supreme Court of Canada. Lord Cave, however, announced that their lordships were satisfied that the question was of great importance and should be determined as speedily as possible. Leave to appeal was accordingly granted.

Loan Bill Was Approved by M.P.'s

Ottawa, July 3.—Second and third reading of Hon. J. A. Robb's bill to authorize a $500,000,000 loan for the retirement of maturing national loans was quickly disposed of last night in the House of Commons.

Speakers Discuss Empire Relations In Their New Form

London, July 3.—The Earl of Derby presided at a banquet here last night given in connection with the Congress of the Empire Chambers of Commerce. In proposing the health of the British Ministers, he said he deeply regretted the relations by which the Dominions were involved in homeland political controversies. Empire affairs should be taken out of those realms, he said.

"We have reached a critical stage in our history," he declared. "Our relations with the Dominions are being compared with the relations of a father and his children. The latter, when young, have been reprimanded, sometimes smacked, but the time comes when they can be no longer reprimanded, but only advised," he said. "That moment has now arrived."

J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary, in replying, said a sincerity of those who had attended the last Imperial Conference were already out of office. The definite moral to be drawn was that in questions so far-reaching, the time had arrived when no party should be known in public affairs. He was going to take the risk in future of inviting to Imperial Conferences not only members of the Government, but also leaders of responsible opposition, but assuring a continuity of policy.

Sir Robert Horne, Conservative, said that if the suggestions of the Dominions were to be put in their place. It was impossible to go on drifting and leave the Dominions to the cajolery of outside nations.

Senators Discuss C.N.R. Charges and Investigation Plan

Ottawa, July 3.—An amendment was moved in the Senate yesterday afternoon to Senator Bennett's motion asking for a committee to investigate the charges against the administration of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine in British Columbia made by Senator J. D. Taylor of New Westminster. Senator Turner, Conservative, Nova Scotia, moved that the committee investigate "the failure of the management of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Government Merchant Marine to properly investigate the statements and charges brought to their attention by Senator J. D. Taylor in his address to the Senate on May 3 last."

Senator Turner's amendment also provided that the clauses of the original motion giving the proposed committee authority to investigate the Scribner Hotel purchase in Paris should be struck out. This proposal was made, he said, owing to the lateness of the session and the prospects of early prorogation.

made, he said, owing to the lateness of the session and the prospects of early prorogation.

OPINION OF SENATE

Senator Fanner criticized the speech of Senator Haydon, Liberal, Ottawa, delivered some days ago, which Senator Haydon defended the National Railway management, and referred to the charges as trifling.

"The Senate is still the safeguard and the bulwark of the nation," he said, "in spite of statements to the contrary and appeals for its abolition."

A demand for abolition of the Senate might be found among the more restless, but among men who had a stake in the country Senator Haydon would learn, he said, that while the country might afford to do without the Commons, it could not do without the Senate.

MINORITY GOVERNMENT?

CONCLUDING an analysis of the vote cast in the recent provincial election The Colony remarks "we do not think it is good for British Columbia that it should be governed by a minority. Possibly, however, a comparatively short time will rectify that state of affairs."

If the Liberals are a minority in the sense that they did not poll more votes than the combined Conservative and Provincial parties, the party our contemporary supports is even more of a minority, and therefore it would be worse still for British Columbia if the Oliver administration abdicated in its favor. As the morning paper also objects to another election this year it obviously must regard the situation as utterly hopeless no matter from what angle it is viewed.

But there is nothing exceptional in the fact that a Government which does not represent a majority of voters against the combined totals of several other parties retains office, although it has the largest representation in the Legislature. It would be an exception if it did not. The Baldwin Government in Great Britain emerged from the last election in a minority but considerably stronger than any of its rivals and remained in office until it was defeated by the combined Liberal and Labor members in the House of Commons, when it handed the keys to the Labor Party which had the second largest representation, according to constitutional practice. If the Liberals shall fail to command a majority of the Legislature next session on some question of policy they probably will make way for the party which has the next largest representation.

Whether the Government will have a majority in the new House or not will not be clear until after the absentee vote has been counted. It may not be certain until after the next session has commenced. But even then it would not necessarily have to vacate office. It could do what three-fourths of the other Governments all over the world have been doing lately, and that is to secure the support of one of the independent groups either by coalition or by arrangement.

There would be nothing new in such a course in British Columbia. The first McBride Government after the defection of several of its supporters was a minority in the Legislature and was kept in office solely by the support of a Socialist group for which the Government had to pay in the form of special legislation favorable to that party. Indeed, until the next election the master of the administration of this Province was actually the Socialist leader, not the Prime Minister. Nor was The Colonist, which enthusiastically supported the McBride administration, at all shocked by this spectacle. It did not even hint that the Government should resign in favor of the Liberals, the next largest group, rather than submit to Socialist domination. On the contrary it gave the arrangement its unwavering approval.

Presumably, if the present Government had to rely upon the support of the three Labor members of the House, as the McBride administration relied upon the support of the Socialist group twenty years ago, Tory die-hards, conveniently forgetting their own past, would profess to be terribly shocked. But if the Labor members offered to vote with their party in the House against the Government, they would welcome the offer with gushing enthusiasm. The tragedy of Toryism is that it lacks a sense of humor.

A COMPROMISE?

AFTER more than fifty ballots the nominating convention of the National Democratic Party at Madison Square Garden is a long way from a decision.

Latest advances this morning would appear to promise a repetition of recent presidential history by the production of a compromise candidate. As matters stand McAdoo has less than five hundred towards the 732 which he requires to land the nomination. Smith, his nearest contender, is hovering round the 300 mark.

This simply means that if McAdoo is going to win he will have to draw a number of votes from some of the favorite sons and attach a large slice of the support which is at present going to Smith.

After a day or two of deadlock impatience begins to grow and the delegates look round for a compromise. This was the case with the late President Wilson as well as with the late President Harding. In this instance there is James W. Davis in the offing, and unless some unexpected turn of events should result in a complete switch of support either to or from McAdoo it is probable that he will land the nomination.

Although Mr. Davis was never a giant in the political realm of the United States he has to his credit a record of excellent service to his country at the Court of St. James. At an exceedingly critical period, and in succession to such a distinguished ambassador as the late Walter Hines Page, Mr. Davis faced a task which called for the highest qualities. The distinction which he is at present enjoying—with excellent prospects of a still greater ahead—is thus a tribute of which he may be justly proud.

In any case, of course, getting two-thirds of the vote at a nominating convention is a different thing from getting two-thirds of the vote of the people. As a matter of fact the present nominating process merely serves to demonstrate the unsatisfactory aspects of a two-thirds vote.

Two favorites are almost neck and neck for three or four days and their campaign suddenly collapses in general exasperation, with the result that a compromise candidate has to be found.

THE PILOTLESS ARK

THE provincial Conservative ark is still with its Noah. The recent caucus here developed nothing except the realization that the leadership question is the most difficult thing the party has had to contend with for a long time. There has been continuous communication with Dr. Tolmie and Mr. H. H. Stevens at Ottawa with no success as far as the Doctor is concerned, since the local Conservatives could not offer him anything nearly as lucrative as his position as organizer for the Federal Conservatives and his membership in the House of Commons give him.

Mr. Stevens is said to be considering the situation, but even if he decided to abandon his aspirations for the Federal Conservative leadership for the leadership of the Provincial Conservative party, there are certain disabilities which he might find hard to overcome. He is not friendly to Mr. Bowser and never has been. Likewise in the light of the record there is no reason why Mr. Bowser should fall upon the neck of Mr. Stevens.

If the truth were known it would be found that Mr. Stevens was more concerned for the election of the Provincial Party than for the victory of the Conservatives in the recent contest. It was against his grain to do anything which might help Mr. Bowser and he said so. Mr. Bowser knows all this. His friends, and he has a lot of them, also know it. Mr. Bowser, an abler and bigger man than Mr. Stevens, may not put any obstacles in the Ottawa member's path, but his friends are not likely to be so magnanimous.

Incidentally, the implication of this effort to induce Dr. Tolmie or Mr. Stevens to assume the leadership of the Provincial Conservatives is not complimentary to the talents of the elected representatives of that party. It advertises them as totally lacking in the qualifications of leadership. It implies in effect that while they have a ship they are not to be entrusted with its control for fear they will run it on the rocks. Why not try the most prominent ones at intervals? For example, why not let Mr. Pooley have the bridge for the first week of the session, Mr. J. W. Jones the second week and Mr. Mackenzie the third, and so on? Then, some time later, it might be possible to solve the vexed problem.

The temperature at Madison Square Garden must be going up all the time.

The Prince of Wales says Canada is a real tonic to him and he will come and take it again this Fall. He might even find a wife here this time.

It is now reported that Wembley crowds are so great as to impede the progress of royalty. As its chief patron, the King will not object to this much evidence of success; as its president, the Prince of Wales will no doubt be tickled to death.

Last Tuesday's celebration at Elk Lake will convince most people that if a city like Chicago or any other densely populated spot possessed such a delightful asset millions would soon be spent on it. It ought to be worth our thousands.

MODERNIZATION IN TAXATION

From The Cape Argus
It is, we are sure, probable that the real wealth of most nations is much less than it appears to be on paper, and if that is so, then it supplies an additional reason for keeping taxation within the bounds of moderation, lest the effect should be to prevent saving, and thus to dry up the sources of future revenue.

A BOOM TO THE IRISH REPUBLICANS

Irish Correspondence, The New Statesman
So far the only people to rejoice wholeheartedly over Sir James Craig's rejection of the treaty are the Southern Republicans, who have been swift to realize the value of the precedent established by Northern extremists. When Lord Carson called into being the Ulster Volunteers he set Sinn Fein on its feet as a revolutionary movement, and Sir James Craig promised to improve upon the practice of his leader. The logical effect of his policy is to set up a status for the six counties which takes no account of the restrictions imposed either by the Act of 1920 or the Treaty; and there is no obvious answer to the argument that if this is permitted to Northern Ireland the Free State cannot be prevented from similarly extending its powers.

WORDS FOR GARDENING

From The New Republic
Dig up this earth and make it smooth for seed. Handle gently now have turned it year on year. We'll break a rotten beam or fence-base here. The earth is ours, the earth is ours, the earth is ours. The world they have, the iron-horse they made. Now it with seed and corn will be its shade. Leave it undisturbed, still it will bear. This bursting up of grass and sunnys shoots. Speak of a fire in earth we never guessed. A restlessness forever feeding roots. Turning persistence to subtlety. Dust, unto dust—Jehovah's ancient jest. Dr. Frank Crane on
"The Good Old Days"

A SYMBOLIC event took place the other day when the Queen of Belgium walked up to the ballot box and dropped in her vote.

It was noticed by most newspaper readers with a curious smile, and possibly mentioned over the coffee cups as a picturesque item, but really it was significant and worth turning over in the mind.

It marks the utter passage of the old order. Kings and Queens and all the Lord's anointed are certainly not what they used to be. Imagine Abel the Damned or Louis the Magnificent waiting in line at the polls, or picture the Prussian Kaiser or the Russian Czar standing up to be counted!

Sometimes we grow peevish and inclined to think the old world is getting sour, that it's the twilight of the gods, the rich own the earth and little Tommy is entering upon a world game with the cards stacked against him.

Then a little thing like a Queen voting brings us up with a jerk.

And there comes to mind what we have read.

Of grand seigneurs of Bourbon days deflowering a mother's child, of the horror-stricken parent a purse of gold and riding away singing raptatam, raptatam.

Of noble lords of Charles Stuart's day ordering his butlers to flog the impertinent tradesman for daring to send in his bill.

Of Richard's summary command, "Off with his head!" and then chorle, "So much for Buckingham!"

Of the imperious Hapsburgs riding down peasant children in the street, and insulting ladies in the cafe while their escorts stood respectfully at attention.

Of slave drivers tying black men to whipping posts and selling their little ones into bondage.

Of all the cruel, dirty, cowardly and unjust antics of privileged scoundrels and crowned pervers.

And then when we see Her Royal Highness voting, alongside the milkman's wife and the grocer's clerk.

We are forced to conclude that the world does move, and that in spite of the fact that the banker lives in a fine house and we live in a walkup flat.

In spite of it all, and for a that and a that, it's a better world than it was.

Children have a better chance and shed fewer tears.

Young men and maidens have cleaner dreams and a finer romance.

It's no such disgrace and stigma as it used to be to be a workman.

Anyhow, it's not so bad as it was.

The Queen votes.

The Great Chief Factor of the Hudson's Bay Company

ON July 3, 1841, Sir George Simpson, Hudson's Bay Company Governor of Rupert's Land, left Port George at the confluence of the Red River and the Assiniboine, where now is the heart of the city of Winnipeg, on his great journey around the world. A man of boundless energy and iron will, for twenty years he had ruled with a strong hand the vast north and west of what is now Canada. He was at this time in his prime, in 1821, immediately after the union of the Hudson's Bay Company with its forceful, pushing rival, the Northwest Company of Montreal, he was appointed the administrator of the united organization in the West.

It had been only a year or so before that he had been sent out from the headquarters of the Hudson's Bay Company in London to visit the Athabasca country to organize and to report. His extraordinary ability was quickly observed, and on his return, young as he was, he was elevated over the heads of a host of seniors to the position he held for forty years. Able, dominating, tactful, conciliatory, winning in manner, he had been long enough in the fur country to grasp the situation, and he had not been there long enough to have absorbed any of the bitterness of the days of bloody rivalry, nor to have made enemies among the traders of the other company. In spite of the jealousy of many and the resentments of some, the appointment was more than justified throughout his long term of office. In 1839, for services by himself and by his company to the Canadian Government during the troublous times of the Rebellion of 1837, he was knighted.

It was five o'clock in the morning of this July day as the little canoe, three horses, a light cart, six men, started across the thousand miles of flower-carpeted prairie. Sir George was one of the most inexorably swift of the travelers of his day, whether in canoe or in the saddle, or by post. Voyageurs, drivers, animals he urged to the limit of endurance and accomplishment. It was only three weeks later that the staff and Indian assembled at Edmonton House, where now is the city of Edmonton, received the Governor in ceremonial dress and with salute of musketry.

Four days later, having inspected fort and traders and having addressed the Indians, the Governor and his party started on with forty-five fresh horses. Up the Saskatchewan river, through jungle and muskeg, into the mountain country and on to Colville on the Columbia River, a thousand miles, the expedition pressed His Excellency at the rate of forty miles a day. Down the Columbia went the party a hundred miles a day to Fort Vancouver at the confluence of the Willamette, about a hundred miles from the Pacific Ocean, and in what is now the State of Washington. Here still ruled the great chief factor of the Pacific Coast, McLaughlin, and here was his able second-in-command, James Douglas, afterward Sir James, founder of Victoria and Governor of British Columbia. Douglas joined the party which now pressed swiftly across country to Puget Sound, took ship at Port Nisqually, and proceeded to Sitka by the Russian Governor and his lady. The Hudson's Bay Company still had by treaty a rich monopoly of the fur trade in Alaska, and this Sir George inspected.

Back from Sitka rushed the party to Port Vancouver. Thence the Governor made a flying winter visit to California, inspected the Hudson's Bay Company Fort where now stands the city of San Francisco, visited the Spanish Governor of the territory at Monterey, struck across from Santa Barbara to the Sandwich Islands. At Honolulu the Hudson's Bay Company officials and the English colony entertained Sir George and lodged him in a former royal palace. From the Sandwich Islands back to Sitka, from Sitka to Stikine went the Governor, back again to Sitka, thence to Okhotsk in Siberia, on to Yakutat on the Lena River, to Irkutsk, to Tobolsk, to Tiumen, Peru, Novgorod, Moscow, and finally to Petrograd, seven thousand miles in ninety-one days, entertained en route in royal fashion by governors and mayors. It was a comparatively tame step for this furious traveler before the days of railways—the last thirteen days to London.

The Red Cedar Shingle-Roof
Excels All Other in Desirable Qualities

THE manufacture of red cedar shingles is a branch of the Forest Industries of British Columbia of outstanding importance.

There are ninety-five shingle mills in this province and in 1923 these plants manufactured 2,500,000,000 shingles to the approximate value of $10,000,000.

If laid end to end this yearly cut of shingles would reach over 770,000 miles, or more than thirty times around the earth!

Approximately 1,000 feet of lumber is required to make 8,000 shingles. B.C.'s annual shingle cut would also provide roofs for 125,000 modern residences.

Red cedar grows to the best advantage in British Columbia, which possesses sixty per cent of the world's supply of this wonderful timber. In 1923 the red cedar cut was 573,000,000 feet. Considerably more than half of this amount was used in the manufacture of shingles.

The B.C. shingle industry has an annual payroll of $3,000,000 and employs about 1,500 men, irrespective of those engaged in logging the red cedar for shingle manufacture.

The British Columbia edge grain shingle makes the most artistic and least expensive roofing there is. Recent independent official fire tests have also established its remarkable freedom from fire risks.

A red cedar roof well laid with the proper zinc-coated or pure iron nails, will last half a century. In her red cedar shingle industry, British Columbia possesses a wonderful industrial inheritance.

When William Fox sought out Lincoln J. Carter and signed him up as a regular member of the Fox scenario staff, he knew that he was securing a man who could give the people what they want in the way of thrilling, interesting and intensely dramatic screen stories.

"The Arizona Express" proves him right. This splendid picture which came to the Columbia Theatre last night is sure to be a success. As a stage play, a generation ago, it kept the audience roaring in a tumult of applause. As a "silent drama" it kept a less demonstrative, but just as

Playhouse To-night

To-night at the Playhouse is to be given away the beautiful four-piece silver tea set which has been on view for the past three weeks. This charming present is certainly worth taking a chance on, especially when taken in conjunction with the delightful farce-comedy "A Pair of Sixes" which is Reginald Hincks offering on the stage and which has caused a perfect riot of laughter at each performance. The ridiculous situations and brilliant dialogue in this play are further enhanced by the perfect acting which this clever company is putting into their various parts.

Lillian Gish as Charming as Ever
in Dominion Film

A motion picture reviewer regrets having wasted adjectives on other film features when he is confronted with such a picture as the Henry King production of "The White Sister," in which Lillian Gish is now appearing at the Dominion Theatre. Here is a motion picture achievement that deserves and demands the use of all the praise it is possible to bestow, for nothing finer has ever reached the screen. It is perhaps the finest dramatic offering ever turned out as a motion picture, and everyone concerned in its making, distribution and presentation is to be complimented most highly.

Miss Gish is magnificent. No actress of this generation on stage or screen has carried the flame of her genius into her acting as does the trail little star of "The White Sister." One has to hark back to the thrilling intensity of a Duse and the passionate emotionalism of a Bernhardt for comparison.

Nowhere in the long list of screen plays has there ever been so convincing and thrilling a love epic as this romance of a girl and her young soldier lover, Ronald Colman, who plays opposite Miss Gish, is the "find" of the screen year—a handsome, dashing hero.

In filming F. Marion Crawford's story, Director King took a company to Italy. Studios and laboratories were established, and then began the making of what should prove one of the truly great productions in cinema history. Mr. King has brought to life the characters of Mr. Crawford's novel and filmed his story in the exact locale in which it was set.

"The White Sister" is a Henry King production for Inspiration pictures, Charles H. Duell, Jr., president, and is released through Metro.

Unusual Career of Beautiful Dancer
is Capitol Theme

An attempt at suicide starts Barbara La Marr to fame and success on the Paris stage. Her latest screen vehicle, "The White Moth," a Maurice Tourneur production, in which she is being co-starred with Conway Tearle at the Capitol Theatre this week.

Miss La Marr plays the role of a little Kansas choir singer who goes to Paris to study music. Failing to succeed with her music, she attempts to end her life in the Seine, but one Gonzales Montez, known as El Volcano on the stage, rescues her. El Volcano induces her to become his dancing partner and together they rise to undreamed of heights of success.

As a dancer she becomes known as "The White Moth" and her male admirers become legion. It is while on the stage that she meets a young American millionaire who falls in love with her, but his brother marries her to put an end to this romance. From then on the complications pile up and make one of the most fascinating photodramas of a decade.

Conway Tearle, as the brother who carries "The White Moth," gives the screen one of his finest characterizations, and Ben Lyon, as the one who lost out, contributes an able performance.

"The New Teacher"
Made Into Scenario
is Pleasing Drama

Shirley Mason, the popular William Fox star, is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre in "The New Teacher." No production in which this dainty star has been seen approaches in point of beauty and detail the new charming story selected for her by Mr. Fox. The picture is from Dorothy Yost's tale, "The Little Alien," and the scenario is also the work of the author.

In "The New Teacher" Miss Mason appears as a young society girl who, tired of social life, she yearns to do something for her poorer fellow beings. When the family suffer a financial reverse she accepts a position as a teacher in one of the public schools located in the slums of New York. Her sweetheart finds her and in order to protect her becomes a policeman. After she has accomplished many praiseworthy acts, he induces her to resume her former status, and the picture ends by their being married.

An excellent cast, which includes Alan Forrest, Earl Metcalfe and Pat Moore, the child actor who is rapidly forging to the front ranks of stardom, support Miss Mason in her latest offering.

"Cytheria" Coming to Capitol, Notable
for Its Picture Art

Preceded by a chorus of praise such as few pictures can boast, "Cytheria," Goddess of Love, a First National picture, is coming to the Capitol Theatre on Monday for a week's engagement. This picturization of Joseph Hergesheimer's renowned novel has been characterized as the most notable contribution to the cinematic art because of the unique touches which have been injected into it by George Fitzmaurice, who produced and personally directed it for Samuel Goldwyn.

Among these unusual features is a color scheme that is used to emphasize the emotional efforts of the players. Three different hues are employed to bring out the moods of the episodes, vitalizing them to a degree heretofore unknown.

Then there is the story. So unusual was the plot and so difficult to visualize did it appear to the ordinary director that Mr. Fitzmaurice was the only one with courage enough to attempt the task. The result is that there are innovations of acting and direction that will make the picture talked of for years. Delicate situations have been handled with an uncanny skill. "Cytheria" proves that the motion picture possesses a scope of delineation that hitherto had been unexplored.

In the cast are such popular favorites as Lewis S. Stone, Alma Hammerstein, Norman Kerry, Irene Rich, Constance Bennett, Blanche Oelrichs, Charles Wellesley and Lydia Yeamans Titus.

Green Room Notes

The Theatrical Enterprises Limited announces that Percy Hutchinson will open his Canadian tour at Montreal on September 22 in "Buildog Drummond," which Vitaphone is making at its Hollywood studios. Many of the earlier scenes with J. Warren Kerrigan as Captain Blood and Miss Jean Paige as Arabella Bishop, the leading feminine role, already have been completed.

Charlotte Merriam has been engaged to play the role of Mary Trail in the picturization of Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood," which Vitaphone is making at its Hollywood studios. Many of the earlier scenes with J. Warren Kerrigan as Captain Blood and Miss Jean Paige as Arabella Bishop, the leading feminine role, already have been completed.

One of the most important events of the Canadian musical world will be the visit of the Newcastle Steel Works Band of Newcastle, N.S.W., Australia, which will play a limited number of engagements in the large cities of the Dominion en route to their home from the Wembley Exposition where they have been one of the big features.

Walter Hampden has had signal honor bestowed upon him twice within the past month. Two gold medals have been given the star of "Cyran de Bergerac" at the National Theatre, New York, by important institutions, The Alliance Francaise of New York, and the National Institute of Social Science.

"Moonlight," the musical comedy now playing at the Longacre, New York, will open the regular season in Boston on Monday, September 15, with Julia Sanderson as the star. Frank Crumit will also be in the cast. This is the play written by William Le Baron, with lyrics by William B. Friedlander and music by Con Conrad, and which is now in its sixth month in New York.

Mr. Emmett Moore, the well-known musical impresario, is to bring a group of the Sixteen Choir soloists to Canada for a comprehensive tour, opening at Montreal the latter part of September and extending from coast to coast. When the full choir appeared last season they set the musical world agog with their wonderful artistry, and it is to be presumed that the soloists will prove equally worth while.

It is now upwards of fourteen years since the project for a National Shakespeare Theatre in London was first started, says Ernest Law, in the London Times, and yet its accomplishment seems as far off as ever. It does not look as if fourteen years hence any substantial progress towards the great end in view will be reached, unless some definite, concrete, and practical scheme can be put before the public. With this object I venture to offer a suggestion or two. The first is as to a site. This should have historical associations, a fine commanding position, with an unobstructed view from many sides, and be exceptionally easy of access from all parts of Greater London. Where is there a better situation for this purpose than Whitehall? The site is vacant, and being part of the Crown lands, is at the disposal of the nation. It is within a few yards of the old Great Hall and Great Chamber of Henry VII's Palace, in which, and in the old Banqueting House of the time of Queen Elizabeth and James I., the first productions took place before the Court of Measure for Measure, Othello, The Tempest, and many other of Shakespeare's plays, besides some 200 other performances, all in his own lifetime. The site, surely, has historical and Shakespearean associations enough.

ANGELIC SISTERS TO BUILD COLLEGE

The Sister Superior and Sister Mary Clare, of St. Anthony's Anglican Convent, Vancouver, are visitors in the city for a week, and are guests at the Dominion Hotel.

This community is the only Anglican Sisterhood in British Columbia, and is chiefly an educational order. Connected with the convent is a college for girls, in which students are received from kindergarten age up to senior matriculation. The work of the college has grown very rapidly during the two years it has been founded. Its students are drawn from all parts of British Columbia, many of them coming from Victoria and other parts of Vancouver Island. Having entirely outgrown their present building, the Sisters have now a campaign in hand to raise funds for a $45,000 building which is to be erected in Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver. The construction is to be commenced immediately, and it is hoped will be ready for occupation about the latter end of October.

HONEYMOON TRIP TO WILDERNESS POST

Toronto-Missionaries to Take Up Duties at Lonely Out-post

Toronto, Ont., July 3 (Canadian Press)—A honeymoon, unique in primitive travel, is that anticipated in the near future by two young missionaries, Miss Mary C. Gomme and Rev. L. Garrett, who, following their marriage, will journey from Toronto to the far inland Anglican mission at Trout Lake. Sailing on a trading steamer from Montreal on July 12, these missionaries will voyage around the Labrador coast to Fort Churchill, on Hudson Bay, where they will board a schooner and for twenty-one days travel by water to Fort Severn. Then, availing themselves of freighting canoes, each manned by five Indian guides, the missionaries will paddle and portage up Severn and Trout Rivers for a possible distance of 250 miles. A Hudson's Bay Company trading post, established at Trout Lake and occupied by a manager and clerk, will provide the only white neighbors within a distance of 150 miles for the isolated mission station, which is served with only three mails a year. Here at the wilderness post these young folk will minister to a band of Cree Indians numbering 70, while Miss Gomme, a graduate this year of the Bible Training College, will work especially among the Indian women.

GARDEN PARTY AT PENDRAY GROUNDS

The beautiful home and grounds of Mrs. W. J. Pendray, Belleville Street, will be thrown open to the public tomorrow for a garden party under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the Metropolitan Church. Among the many attractions will be an orchestra which is to play throughout the afternoon. There will be a home cooking stall, candy and jumble stalls and attractions for the children. Sailors will be cordially welcomed.

The Pendray gardens are noted for their unique specimens of topiary and visitors to the city will find this an excellent opportunity of viewing the grounds.

Well-baby Clinic—Under the auspices of the Spanish Health Centre a well-baby clinic will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at Tolmie Primary School. Mothers are asked to communicate with Mrs. C. A. Lucas at the Health Centre.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Ice Cream

Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By Howard R. Garis

"Where is the hammer, and please get me some nails, Nurse Jane," called Uncle Wiggily one morning in the hollow stump bungalow soon after breakfast.

"What are you going to do?" the muskrat lady housekeeper wanted to know. "Are you going to build a boat and go sailing after adventures?"

"No, indeed! Not this morning!" laughed the rabbit gentleman. "I am going to make an ice cream stand, like Billie Wagtail's lemonade stand. I am going to sell ice cream and make a lot of money."

"Why do you want to make a lot of money?" asked Nurse Jane.

"So I can get rich and buy a cake of ice for everybody in Woodland," answered the bunny. "You see it is so very hot, Nurse Jane, that I would like all my friends to have a cake of ice to keep cool. Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman in his ice cave, has the best time all Summer. But when I get to selling ice cream I will be cool, those who buy my ice cream will be cool, and when I get rich, and buy everyone a cake of ice, we'll all be cool."

"It sounds nice," said Nurse Jane, not meaning to make a joke. "Here is the hammer, and you will find some nails on the shelf, Uncle Wiggily."

So the bunny gentleman, with some boxes and boards, built himself an ice cream stand under a shady tree just outside his bungalow.

When the stand was finished Nurse Jane put some pretty pink and white paper on it, as Uncle Wiggily hopped down to the store to buy a freezer of ice cream and some vacant cones, made of a sugary, floury paste into which the ice cream could be stuffed.

"Now I'm all ready for business!" said the rabbit as he came back with the ice cream cones. He printed a sign, writing it with a burned stick on white birch bark. The sign said: BUY ICE CREAM CONES AND KEEP COOL

It certainly was a hot day—everybody was hot, and Nurse Jane thought he would do a good business. He sat behind his counter waiting for customers. Up hopped Bully No Tail, the frog boy.

"How much are your ice cream cones, Uncle Wiggily?" croaked Bully.

"One dollar each," answered the rabbit.

"What's that? A dollar for an ice cream cone?" cried the frog boy. "What's the idea?"

"I want to get rich quick so I can buy a cake of ice for everyone in Woodland and make them cool," answered the rabbit. "That's why I'm charging a dollar."

Miss Mabel Malcolm, member of the staff of Revelstoke public school, and her mother, Mrs. Malcolm, are spending the Summer in Victoria, and are visiting her sister, Mrs. George I. Warren, 1244 Dallas Road.

For one," croaked Bully.

"This here you are!" cried Uncle Wiggily. He filled a large cone heaping full of the lovely cold cream and passed it to the frog boy, who handed over his penny.

"Oh, yum yum! This is good," murmured Bully, as he hopped down the path.

Bully told Bully, his brother, how Uncle Wiggily was selling ten-cent ice cream cones for a penny each. Bully hopped to the stand and bought one. Then Bully told Dottie Plufftail, the little girl lamb, and Dottie told Baby Bunty, and Baby Bunty told Jackie Bow Wow, and Jackie Bow Wow told Johnnie Rushytail, and so it went, until all the boys and girls in animal land were rushing to Uncle Wiggily to buy ten-cent ice cream cones for a penny.

"My! But I'm doing a wonderful business!" laughed the rabbit gentleman as the pennies jingled into his cigar box cash register.

"But you will never get rich this way," said Nurse Jane. "Think of it, Uncle Wiggily, each ice cream cone you sell for a penny costs you six cents. You are losing five cents on each one. You'll never get rich. You are losing money faster than you're making it!"

"Oh, am I? Well, anyhow, I'm having fun, and see how happy the children are!" laughed the bunny, as he pointed to a parade of the animal boys and girls with ten-cent ice cream cones they had bought for a penny.

"Uncle Wiggily sold out one freezer full and bought another. Then he sold a third, for it was a very hot day. And while he was selling an ice cream cone to Aunt Lettie, the lady from all of a sudden along came the Skilley Scallery Alligator."

"Do you want a cone?" asked the bunny politely.

"No! I want your ears!" bellowed the big chap.

"Oh, you are wild. I must use a little salt to tame you!" laughed the bunny. With that he threw a lot of the cold, salty ice cream water on the Alligator.

"Oh, I'm catching cold! I'm freezing! Oh, my eyes are full of salt!" howled the Gator, and away he crawled as fast as he could go. And he didn't nibble the bunny that day.

Mr. Longears had a great deal of fun selling his ice cream, and at last everyone in Woodland was made cool. And then the bunny gentleman you see I don't know much about the ice cream business, Bully. Would you think a penny too much for an ice cream cone?"

"Oh, no, I'd be glad to give a penny for one," croaked Bully.

SLACK COAL WAS SENT TO BARRACKS

Dealer Gives Evidence at Army Inquiry in Progress in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, July 2.—Details of the manner in which slack coal was substituted for other varieties and delivered to Tuxedo Barracks, Winnipeg, were recounted to the Coal Inquiry Commission here today by Howard C. Ritchie, manager of the City Coal Company, which supplied 1,900 tons of coal before the contract for 2,500 tons was cancelled.

Mr. Ritchie admitted on being questioned by General H. D. E. Ketchen that slack had been placed in the bottom of delivery trucks.

"Did you have the coal teamed this way to deliberately deceive the military authorities?" asked R. C. Maclean, Government counsel.

"Yes, if you want to put it that way," Ritchie replied.

The witness said he had had no conversation with General Ketchen or any other officials relating to the substitution of slack for the coal he had assured them they would have no trouble in regard to mixing so long as the coal was good.

MEN OF DAUNTLESS HOSTS OF EVENING

Big Dance Held Last Night Was Outstanding Success

Seamen of H.M.S. Dauntless last night gave an informal dance at the Caledonia Hall. The dance was attended by several hundred Victorians and sailors from His Majesty's ships. The ship's band attended and furnished music throughout the evening, and a most enjoyable entertainment was the result. Those present were vociferous in their applause of the orchestra which has a style of playing wholly conducive to enjoyable dancing, and the seamen were acknowledged excellent hosts.

It was hoped by the men of the ship that they might hold another dance to-morrow evening, but time does not permit their doing so.

They will recall, the sailors say, only the most pleasant memories of their stay in Victoria. The dances were planned to reciprocate in a small way, the courtesy and welcome extended to them by the citizens of Victoria.

Famous Screen Star Gave Up Career Ambitions For Home

She Says Wifehood Is Woman's Greatest Role

By Marguerite Clark

Famous Stage and Screen Star, Now Mrs. Harry P. Williams

Copyright, 1924.

Patterson, La., July 5.—My advice to girls who imagine they should go on the stage or into the movies is—DON'T.

Not if you can get a good husband. Girls seeking a career on the stage and screen are such a problem. I love them for their youth, their hopes and ambitions, and their naive beliefs. And I try hard to advise them out of my own experience. Here is what I tell them:

If you have beauty, and above all, personality, and some training and money, if you believe the stage or screen is the place for you, and you are willing to work harder than you ever dreamed of working—try it.

It breaks my heart to see girls heading for Hollywood with only a few dollars and their youth, and beauty, and hopes. They do not realize what can happen to a girl when she meets rebuff after rebuff, when the world begins to topple about her. It is then she falls for temptations.

I've seen it so many, many times. There are thousands of girls mad to enter the movies or go on the stage, who have not the faintest chance of mediocre success. Of those girls, so many could find happiness if they only realized, as I realize, that being a wife is the greatest role any woman can play.

I don't mean for girls to rush into early marriage. I think twenty-five to thirty is early enough to marry. Every girl should be trained for wifehood and motherhood. Just as babies ought to have years of sleeping and eating and playing so a girl ought to have her playtime, free from responsibilities.

She should learn how to keep a home and to entertain men, for she will make one of them her husband. I think every mother should see that her daughter takes the course in wifehood. Responsibilities even in the happiest and wealthiest marriages are great. A woman should know how to cook and sew and how to attend to all the duties of her home, including the rearing of children.

A girl should know how to wait for the best man. Every girl and every boy growing up normally have what I call love flashes. They are somebody by whom they are attracted, and it is so easy to mistake such a temporary attraction for real love, the love that lasts.

I think every girl, before marriage, should wait six months after she becomes engaged. This will give her time to study the man of her choice and to study herself.

A girl should wait and work for the role of wifehood as she would study and work to fill successfully a role on the stage or any other calling. Above everything else there should be love. And next should come tolerance and common sense. So many marriages are needlessly shattered into failure, a tiny shred at a time. I think every woman should study her husband and herself, as a good actress must study the character she would portray.

FAREWELL DANCE

A farewell dance will be held at the Armories, Bay Street on Friday July 4 from 8.30 to midnight in honor of the visit of H.M. light cruisers.

One of the American athletes going to the Olympiad in a preacher and we imagine he will try to do more than lead the boys in prayer.

Classified Ads That You Ought to Answer

Sometimes there will be a dozen in one issue of this paper.

If you've never formed the habit of answering and investigating want ads—then you have still to form what will prove the most profitable habit of your life.

But for the service of the classified "ads" the stenographer who has brought order and system and efficiency to a business office where they had been wanting, would have been filling a half-as-good position somewhere else.

Wouldn't you conclude—even if this were half-true instead of being quite true—that this is a good time to start in?

Eagles To Field Strong Team For Game With C.P.R.

Lodgemen Have Signed up Webster and Green; Malcolm to Hurl For Champs

By Winning To-night's Game Railroaders Will Cinch Title For Second Year

To-night at the ball park two old rivals will meet when the C.P.R. and Eagles ball teams clash in their third meeting of the season. The Eagles will trot out a formidable line-up in a last attempt to hand the haughty railroaders a licking. At present the league leaders are undefeated but the feathered tribe are confident that they will be able to turn the trick.

"Hoppy" Williams, shrewd manager of the C.P.R., stated to The Times this morning that "Matty Malcolm," star hurler from James Island, will be in town and will be on the mound for the champions. "Matty" has only appeared before local fans once this year when he chucked against Port Angeles on May 24. He is a great pitcher with years of experience behind him and is expected to give the Eagles plenty of worry. The remainder of the team will be as follows: Haley Jackson at first base, with "Kim" Campbell holding down the keystone sack; Harry Copas at short and Art Minnis at third. The outfield will be made up of Roy Copas, Dave Richdale and Bob White. Either Colin Campbell or "Wino" Moore will be receiving the

EAGLES STRENGTHENED

The Eagles will have out a formidable team for the game. According to Manager Roy Le Roy he has signed up Art Webster, who is just back from college, and also Elly Green. Both players are well known to local fans as they have played on other teams here. He has been out of the game for some time but says his hitting eye is still with him. Webster has been playing ball for two months in Portland and is in great shape. He can play either in the infield or outfield, as well as pitch a fair curve.

Johnny Kerr, the Eagles' pitching ace, will do the heavy work of the team and will make a supreme effort to defeat the railroaders. The rest of the team will take the field as follows: Hy Green at first base; Turpel at short and Wally Bjorlson at third.

The outfield will be picked from Herb Cummings, Mulcahy, Webster and Robinson with McGinnis doing the catching. The game will be called at 6.30 o'clock with Allie McGregor handling the umpiring.

On Saturday the C.P.R. ball team will journey to the mainland to take on that team in a return game.

Canadian Football Eleven Beaten by Victoria Squad

Melbourne, July 2.—Canada's touring all-star soccer team was defeated by a team made up of the best players in Victoria, by a score of two to one here yesterday. Canada played in bad luck, having things all her own way until the last quarter of the match, when the Victorians made a supreme effort and scored twice. Mesher was obliged to retire early in the second half, and his loss was keenly felt. No substitutes have been played so far during the tour.

Ford, Wilson, Sandford, Noseworthy and Chapman did not play yesterday.

The Canadian defence was brilliant, time after time turning back the speedy Australians, but the forwards were beaten in front of the goal.

The Canucks have won seven games, lost five and drawn five. Of four test matches they won one, lost two and drew one.

An All-Australian team will meet the visitors in Melbourne next Saturday.

Seattle Tennis Stars Will Play Here Saturday

Seattle, July 3.—Having successfully repulsed the attempts of Vancouver and Victoria to defeat the locals on their own courts, the Seattle Tennis Club six-man team leaves to-night for a three-day invasion of British Columbia. On July 4 they will play the Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, and on Saturday will tackle the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club in the British Columbia capital city.

The Seattle players leaving are: Dick Vanderlas, Lon Lewis, Whitcombe Quinlan, R. Burr, Windy Langlie and Leon de Turenne. Lacy Hofins, secretary of the Seattle Tennis Club, will manage the team, and act as alternate should any player need relief.

Duncan Lady Net Star Going After Marjorie's Crown

Mrs. Hicks Will Play in Portland in Oregon Tennis Tourney; Opens Monday

Portland, Ore., July 3.—The vanguard of tennis players from points outside Portland, who will compete in the Oregon state championships, starting here on the Irvington Courts next Monday, began to arrive yesterday. Among the arrivals were Ray Francisco and Tom Galtier of San Francisco, and Tom Galtier of Los Angeles. Word was received that Catlin Wolford, ex-state champion, was on his way from San Francisco.

Mrs. G. Hicks, of Duncan, B.C., has written to say she will be an entrant. She is one of the strong contenders in the women's singles.

Miss Marjorie Leeming, of Victoria, winner of this event last year, will not compete this year. She has gone to Toronto to enter a tournament.

Henry H. Graham, of Twin Falls, Idaho, is another entrant. Elmer Griffin of San Francisco, winner of the "bad boy" in cricket in 1922 and 1923, will not compete this year, nor will Miss Mayne Macdonald, two-time winner of the ladies' open singles for the Oregon championship.

Eighty players entered the various events in the Oregon state tennis championships last year and about the same number are expected to compete this year.

OUR MAIL BAG

QUESTIONS ON CRICKET

To the Sports Editor:—May I register a three-fold kick on behalf of the "bad boys" in cricket?

No. 1. Last year, Mr. Editor, you used to publish in Friday night's Times the names of the players and the list of matches for the following day. This year we look in vain for any information. Why? Is it the fault of the secretaries or is it yours, Mr. Editor? If it is yours, will you repeat and give us on Friday night the necessary information?

No. 2. What is the matter with the Garrison cricket team? Scattered to four corners, scratched to Victoria, scratched to Five C's, all in the last month. I notice the Inco's faced the Albions with only nine men last Saturday. Our local soldiers should show a similar spirit. Were we not told that Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton?

No. 3. In the cricket league this year I notice that the Albions and the Five C's are leading the list. Yet in the Rep team not one Albion man was good enough. One Five C's was played for his batting I presume, sent in last against the Navy. Why this discrimination?

We would like to see the averages of the men chosen for 1924 in Cricket League Division I. Some of us are afraid cricket will be killed this way in Victoria.

"AN OLD CROCK."

The Times does publish each Friday evening the matches for the following Saturday. Most teams are missing because the secretaries do not send them in, probably they cannot see where publication would be of any assistance to them. Regarding question two, I advised you to communicate with the Garrison Cricket Club. They no doubt would give you their reason. Regarding question three I advised you to communicate with the selection committee of the Victoria and District Cricket League, which picked the representative team—Sports Editor.

Pat Wood Reaches The Semi-Finals

New York, July 3.—Pat Wood reached the semi-final round in the Nassau Country Club's invitation tennis tournament yesterday afternoon when he defeated Howard Voshell and Lawrence B. Rice. Frederick Kaima, of the Australian Davis Cup team, was eliminated in the third round by Edward P. Chandler of the University of California, who was afterwards beaten by Voshell.

Tunney Will Get Chance To Show Form With Carp.

American Lightweight Champion Not Regarded as Much of a Fighter

New York, July 3.—The strange and perplexing case of James Joseph Tunney, known professionally as Gene, is to be wheeled back into the operating room for further clinical experiments.

Mr. Tunney, professing to be the light heavyweight champion of America, has signed to exchange punches, as the saying is, with Georges Carpentier, celebrated French pug, here next month.

Nobody seems to be able to state with any degree of positiveness whether Tunney is a first-class product of the A.E.P. is a first-class fighting unit or not.

Martin Burke, champion heavyweight of the South, some days ago when asked as to what he thought of Tunney, said:

"I think he's an awful tomato."

Burke, however, may have been mildly prejudiced, since the remarks were made several hours after a fight in which he had taken a severe wallop from Tunney.

Tommy Gibbons is another fighting gentleman who can hardly keep a straight face when Tunney's name is mentioned.

"I'll say this for him, though, he uses beautiful English," Gibbons, too, may be moderately prejudiced. The St. Paul shamrock has been trying unsuccessfully for several seasons to get a shot at Tunney.

Much of the skepticism regarding Tunney's ability grew out of the extreme caution with which his manager, the shrewd Billy Gibson, engineered his matches. If the boys looked too tough, Mr. Tunney was kept far away from them.

With the exception of the two Greb bouts, Tunney hasn't faced a really high-grade batter. In the first Greb bout, Tunney was beaten, in the second he was victorious. In neither did he look the part of a sensation.

Gibson, his manager, tells us Tunney is a greatly improved fighter and predicts he will beat Carpentier worse than Gibbons did at Michigan City.

WILL BEAT CARPENTIER

"I brought Tunney along slowly," says Gibson. "Just as I brought Benny Leonard along by easy stages, Tunney didn't look any worse in his fledgling days than Benny did. Finally Benny reached his real form and won the world's lightweight championship. Tunney won the American light heavyweight title before reaching his top-most ability. Today he is really a great fighter."

Mr. Gibson is, of course, no more like the common run of fight managers than one should not take his enthusiasm too seriously.

Tunney is a pretty fair fighter, but no world beater. He is fast and clever, but the qualities ought to win for him over Carpentier.

Tunney, however, has never been a great aggressive fighter. Taking chances is not his specialty. Carpentier can still ring a fairly hard straight right. Tunney may decide that discretion is eminently the better part of valor, and go into a shell. If he does it will be a terrible fight to watch, for the Frenchman proved in his marathon with Gibbons that he can retreat with the worst of them.

AMERICAN BOXERS IN PARIS GIVE BLOOD TO SAVE COMRADE

Paris, July 3.—Two members of the American Olympic boxing team, Coach "Spike" Webb, to-day gave their blood in a transfusion operation to help rescue a fellow countryman, a New York, who had been confined in the hospital at Neuilly for several days suffering from internal hemorrhages, caused by a body punch received in training.

Ruffalo showed almost immediate improvement after the transfusion.

World's Largest Open Golf Tourney Planned in Chicago

Chicago, July 3.—Plans to hold the world's largest, open golf tournament some time next year, with the leading players of the world competing, are under consideration by officials of Olympia Fields, the largest golf club in the world.

The tournament, it is proposed, would be held under the auspices of the United States Golf Association and carry a cash prize fund of $10,000. All of the four championship courses of Olympia Fields would be played over in the proposed 72-hole event.

Milton Makes Two Miles a Minute in Kansas Race Test

Kansas City, Mo., July 3.—Fifteen of the world's racing stars will go into action at the Kansas City speedway to-morrow afternoon in a 250-mile race. The goal is $25,000, $5,000 of which goes to first place, with points in the 1924 national championship.

Tommy Milton will have the pole as result of his fast year record. He dashed around the mile and a quarter in 38.4 seconds, an average of 122.5 miles an hour.

Joe Boyer and Ernie Ansterberg circled the track in 37 seconds flat, an average of 121.6 miles an hour.

Other drivers in the lineup are: Jimmy Murphy, 1922 national champion; Bennett Hill, Frank Fenger, Fred Corcoran and Earl Cooper.

Vancouver Racing

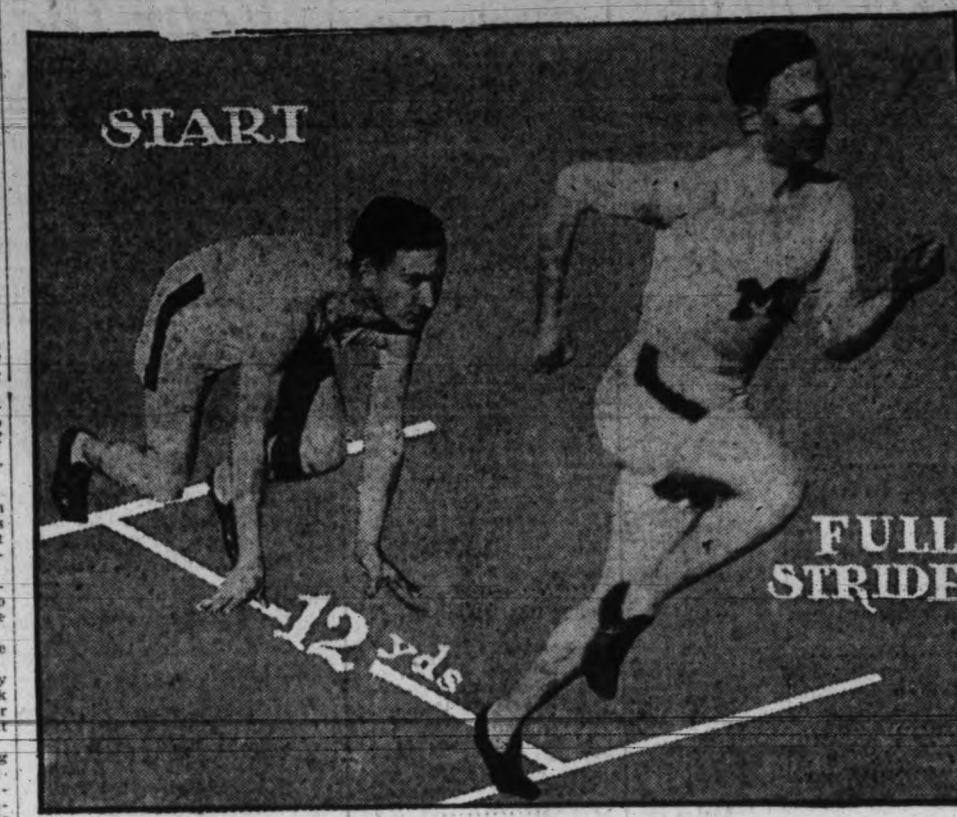

Vancouver, July 3.—Dode Adams surprised winners at Brighouse yesterday. After comparatively easy wins of the favorites in the first two races, Dode Adams beat out Bill Spivins in the third and toward her backers to the extent of $30 for the $2 nose bet.

One of the features of the afternoon was C. Greenwood's riding. He rode the winner in the first, second and fourth races, not being up in the third or fifth.

Jackson Scholz, Man Who Beat Paddock, Is Fastest Starter in the Sprinting World

Whatever Jackson Scholz does or does not do as a member of the American sprint team in the coming Olympic games he will always be known to posterity as the man who beat Paddock.

Until the New York German came up from nowhere to break two world records on successive days, with the ease and nonchalance of a child, Paddock, "fastest human," stood in a state of semi-retirement until last winter when a patriotic urge to go out and do something really noble smote him squarely between the eyes.

Scholz entered all the indoor meets in New York during the winter season and was consistently among the also rans. Murchison, Bowman, McAllister, Le Coney and Hussey passed him with scant ceremony and perspiring hoofs. Scholz smiled grimly and kept pounding away. Any sprinter who can bust two world records wide open on successive days and run the legs off of the great Paddock deserves to rank with the immortals. Whether Scholz will do as well abroad is something else. At least he is an unexpected and welcome addition to the team's sprinting strength.

Scholz swings into his topmost stride quicker than any sprinter in the game and that is the answer to his great success. Twelve yards away from the starting line he is swinging along at full speed. Most sprinters do not develop maximum power until they are fifteen or twenty yards from the line. A quick start helps and the rest is too well known to need repeating here. Any sprinter who can bust two world records wide open on successive days and run the legs off of the great Paddock deserves to rank with the immortals. Whether Scholz will do as well abroad is something else. At least he is an unexpected and welcome addition to the team's sprinting strength.

Firpo on Way Back To States to Make Another Clean-up

Buenos Aires, July 3.—Louis Angel Firpo sailed to-day for New York on the steamship American Legion, to fulfill his engagement to fight Harry Wills.

Sons and Spencers In Final Game For Commercial Laurels

To-morrow evening at the Central Park the Native Sons of Canada and Spencer's will clash in the final game for the championship of the Commercial Baseball League. The game is scheduled to start at 6.30 and will be a sharp, with Cy Milne umpiring. Up to date these two teams have each lost a game to the other and to-morrow night's battle will decide the holder of the McGavin Cup for this year.

In their first meeting of the season Spencer's was successful in coming out on the long end of an 8-3 score, but in their second game the Sons scored a 2-1 victory over the departmental store nine.

"Jack" Stewart, Spencer's star hurler, will be on the mound for them, while Cameron will pitch for the Canadians. Both hurlers are twirling a fine brand of ball and the game should develop into a pitchers' duel.

The teams will be as follows: Spencer's—Donaldson, Post, Milne, McIlmoyle, Bentley, Campbell, Crowe, Stewart and A. Hilton. Native Sons of Canada—McKenzie, McDiarmid, Thomas, D'Arcy, Montusky, Gandy, McLaren, Bates, Cameron, Kay and C. Hilton.

U.S. Polo Team is Winner Over G.B.

St. Cloud, France, July 3.—The United States Olympic polo team to-day won their third match in competition for the Olympic title, defeating Great Britain's team 10-2.

Norway Wins Deer Target Shooting

Paris, July 3.—Norway yesterday won the four-man team running deer target-shooting, scoring 180 out of a possible 200 points with forty shots. Sweden was second with 154 and the United States third with 144. Great Britain was fourth, Finland fifth and Hungary sixth.

Wimbledon, Eng., July 3.—R. Norris Williams II., sole remaining American in the men's singles of the Wimbledon tournament, was defeated in the semi-finals by Rene Lacoste, the youthful French star, who won 6-1, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Helen Wills and Mrs. George Wightman, United States, defeated Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, 8-6, 6-4 in their semi-final match in the women's doubles.

Francis Hunter and Miss Lillian Scharman (America) were eliminated by the English pair, L. A. Godfree and Mrs. Shepherd Barron, who won 9-7, 7-5.

In the mixed doubles Francis T. Hunter and Miss L. Scharman, the United States pair, were eliminated by the British pair, L. A. Godfree and Mrs. Shepherd Barron, who won 9-7, 7-5.

Golf Tourney In Toronto Causing Strenuous Play

Two Matches Carried to Extra Holes in Canadian Championship Yesterday

Toronto, July 3.—After being five down on the 14th of the forenoon round yesterday, Lauren Upson, the Canadian youth sole United States survivor in the championship flight of the Canadian amateur golf tournament at Rosedale, won six of the last eight holes in the afternoon round, and halved the other pair, squaring the match against the McKenzie, Montreal, Canadian amateur champion, in 1920. Then, by a sensational forty-five-foot effort on the thirty-eighth hole, from just off the green, Upson holed out and won the match and the right to meet F. G. Hoblitzel, of Sarnia, to-day.

In the brilliant seventy-three, one over par. His morning performance was brilliant. He had six birdies, two eagles and stymied four times on the round.

ANOTHER CLOSE MATCH

Another Montreal player participated in an extra hole match in the championship flight. C. R. Grier of Norman Scott of Royal, Montreal, won against C. T. Lennox of Montreal Country Club and C. M. Jones of Scarborough, respectively. The match was a close one, with Grier leading the former a seven and five victory.

Sandy Somerville, the London boy, was one up on John Lewis, five and three.

F. G. Hoblitzel of Sarnia had the easiest match of the day, eliminating A. Goodman of Rosedale, 11 and 9.

'Chuck' Staples is Again Injured in Race on Mainland

According to word received in the city from "Chuck" Staples, of Vancouver, popular young bicycle rider, who was a former resident of this city, he suffered another bad accident in Vancouver on July 1 at the sports staged at Hastings Park. On account of his accident he will not be able to compete in the B.C. championship race which is being held to-day. In the July 1 sports he won the half-mile event and was leading in the mile when he hit a mud-hole and took a nasty fall, dislocating his shoulder. It will be remembered that Staples was in a bad accident while riding back here in the B.C. championship race which is being held to-day. He says, however, that he will be over for the police sports to be held here on July 19.

How to make better raspberry and cherry jam in a few minutes

Keeps perfectly—Make up a supply now to use during winter months.

By ANN PROCTOR

Everyone loves raspberry jam. For a spread on bread or hot biscuits, nothing seems to equal it. Its wonderful flavor makes children of us all. Until now, however, an expert was required to make it. Until now, also, it was expensive. Certo, a natural product of fruit, has solved the problem so that everyone can now make and eat this delicious conserve.

This Certo process banishes all the guesswork or worry as perfect results are certain. Unlike the old method of "pound for pound" mixture which had to be boiled for thirty or more minutes, with consequent loss of fruit juice and flavor being boiled away, the economical Certo process requires only one minute's boiling and thereby saves all the fruit to produce 50 per cent. more jam.

Certo is an absolutely pure fruit product—contains no gelatine or preservative. Jams and jellies made the Certo way will keep perfectly. Certo will positively save you time and fruit, and eliminates all guesswork. You can use it on all kinds of fruits and you can even use canned fruit—something which you could never do before. It is highly endorsed by all domestic science experts. Every woman who has used it recommends it to her friends and says she will never be without it.

To make Raspberry Jam by the easy Certo process:
Crush well about 2 quarts ripe berries in separate portions, so that each berry is mashed. This allows fruit to quickly absorb the sugar during the short boil. Measure 4 level cups crushed berries into large kettle, add 7 level cups sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. BOIL HARD FOR ONE MINUTE, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand not over 5 minutes. BY THE CLOCK, before pouring. In the meantime, skim, and stir occasionally to cool SLIGHTLY. Then pour quickly. This same recipe may be used for making strawberry, blackberry or loganberry jam.

To make Cherry Jam by the simple Certo process:
Pit and crush well about 2½ lbs. cherries (sour cherries give finest flavor.) Measure 4 level cups of the crushed pitted cherries into large kettle, add ½ cup water. Tie 3 table-spoons of pits in cloth and crush with hammer. Place with cherries to increase flavor. Stir until boiling, cover kettle, simmer 10 minutes, then remove pits. Add 7½ level cups sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. BOIL HARD FOR ONE MINUTE. Remove from fire and stir in 1 bottle Certo. Allow to stand with occasional stirring 5 minutes only, by the clock. Skim and pour into glasses.

Write today to the Douglas Packing Co., Limited, Cobourg, for a copy of the Certo recipe booklet of 73 recipes. If your grocer does not have Certo send 40c in stamps to this Company and they will forward you a bottle.

Be sure to start now—the new, sure, quick, economical way of making jams and jellies. You will never return to the old "hit or miss" method.

BUTTERCUPS AND DAISIES IN THE CANADIAN ARCTIC

Stefansson Lectures in Australia; Clears up False Ideas About the Northland

Dr. V. Stefansson, the explorer, who fitted out the Canadian Arctic Expedition of 1913 here, is now in Australia lecturing, in order to pay off $2,500, a debt arising out of his last expedition, and other commitments.

In the course of his address in Sydney, Dr. Stefansson said that there were many eminently learned men who, until quite recently, absolutely believed that there was neither animal or plant life in the Arctic, but the fact was that right up to the North Pole there was plant and animal life in abundance. In the utmost north there was comparatively small leafed, and in the lands adjoining the North Pole there were twenty-nine varieties of ferns, 250 varieties of lichens, 320 varieties of mosses, and 780 different kinds of flowering plants. There were there bluebells and buttercups, daisies and dandelions, and meadows of grass and flowers not excelled in any other country in the world. That demonstrated that much of the information given in the schools and universities about the great land in the vicinity of the North Pole was only mythical and built up on the folklore and superstitions.

ESKIMO LIFE

There was a common superstition that the Eskimos lived in snow-houses. The Eskimos were a hospitable and lovable people, but the majority of them did not live in snow houses. In fact more than half of them had never seen a snow house, and would not believe such a thing possible if you told them about it. There were very few Eskimos who lived in snow houses, but then only for about five months of the year. The Eskimos of Alaska, Canada and Greenland did not live in snow houses and had never seen snow houses. There was another superstition that the Eskimos drank oil. That was only a myth—it was a full and complete diet for the human being, for the lecturer and his men had lived on the diet of the hunter-in the region of the North Pole for over five years, and at the end of that time they were as strong and healthy as they were when they started on the expedition.

OTHER SUPERSTITIONS

Another superstition in regard to the north, which he had proved was a myth, was the assertion that the wolves hunted in packs. Nobody who had explored the northern regions had seen a pack of wolves of a great number than eleven or twelve, composed of the father, the mother, and their puppies. These packs kept together until the puppies were about eleven months old.

A further superstition was that it was deadly to eat snow. All the explorers whom he had consulted, and all the Canadian hunters he had met in his trips to the north, had warned him against the effects of the "horrible Arctic thirst," and the danger of endeavoring to quench it by eating snow, as this was supposed to cause excruciating cramps, followed by death in a few days. He thought of this passing strange, seeing that in the United States and Canada they ate snow as a delicacy, with different flavors, and called it ice cream. (Laughter.) The belief was due to folk-lore, and the explorers did not use their common sense, as their minds were prejudiced by what they had been taught in the schools and the universities. There was no more danger in eating snow than there was in eating ice cream, when one went the right way about it, and he and his men had eaten tons of snow, and had never felt the slightest ill-effects. The danger was in eating snow when it was, say, 50 degrees below freezing point, and the body was above freezing point. Then it was like drinking liquid air—danger, and even death, might follow. But if the snow was held in the hand until it was heated to something near the temperature of the body there was absolutely no danger. Snow thus eaten was both palatable and appetizing.

CAME TO FISH ON THIS ISLAND

Col. R. A. Steele Left Yesterday on Makura

Specially attracted to Vancouver Island for the fishing, Col. R. A. Steele left here yesterday on R. M. S. Makura after a visit to Cowichan Lake. He is on his way to New Zealand, where he will fish, and see something of the natural beauty of the southern Dominion.

He has not been here since the Boxer rising, when he was on his way home from China, so that he was able to observe many changes in the British Columbia cities. The splendid extent of paved streets and good country roads on Vancouver Island surprised him.

Col. Steele has visited all the chief Canadian cities on his way across the Dominion, and he is tremendously impressed with this section as suitable for retired military and naval men. When informed that large numbers had already settled in the Cowichan district and elsewhere, he expressed the opinion that it was a delightful country for them, especially in view of the high taxation in the British Isles.

BOARD HEARS OF GASOLINE CARS

Service in Kootenay Urged on Railway Commissioners

After the Railway Board finished on the coast, the Commissioners proceeded to Kootenay, and on Monday sat at Nelson.

GASOLINE SERVICE DISCUSSED

Fred A. Starkey, commissioner for the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, took up the matter of a gasoline car service to district points not now served by a regular daily train service. A resolution embodying this had, stated Mr. Starkey, been passed at the annual meeting of the associated boards, and had originally come from the Nakusp Board of Trade. The resolution had been sent to the various railways, and D. C. Coleman of the Canadian Pacific Railway had taken the matter up and had stated the railway company was purchasing a gasoline car for experimental purposes.

Mr. Starkey said the Board of Railway Commissioners, upon receiving the resolution, had asked him to supply the names of towns in the district desiring such a service. Accordingly he communicated with the boards of trade in the surrounding country. Nakusp made an application for a tri-weekly service on days when the trains did not run between Nakusp and Kaslo. The South Kootenay Farmers' exchange and the Slocan Valley Farmers' Institute and settlements in the Slocan had passed resolutions asking for a service on the Slocan branch on days on which the regular service did not exist. Lardso country also wished a gasoline service if it did not interfere with that portion of the district.

The commissioners discussed with the speaker various phases of the question before the hearing ended. Following the hearing, the commissioners and other members of the party motored to Brilliant, where they were conducted through the jam factory operated by the Doukhobors. The party reported an excellent trip along the Kootenay River to Brilliant.

Y.M.C.A. CAMPERS FIGHT BLAZE

Bush Fire Quelled After Desperate Tussle in Gorge Woods

Prompt and energetic action on the part of the Y.M.C.A. campers at the Gorge averted what might have been a disastrous forest blaze in the thickest part of the woods surrounding the Gorge. Returning to the camp at midnight several members were startled by the reflection of fire on the tops of the trees. They investigated and found a large patch of brush on fire. The camp was roused and every one available turned out with spades and buckets. Ditches were dug to stay the course of the fire, brush was slashed and the edges of the clearing sowed with water to put a stop to the rapidly spreading flames. After a determined fight, which lasted until almost 2 a.m., the campers had the pleasure of seeing their efforts rewarded. The fire was brought under control and finally extinguished. The prompt action of the Y.M.C.A. ended what might have been a serious blaze.

ON THE HIGH SEAS IN A 16-FOOT BOAT!—There aren't many who'd relish a 1,000-mile ocean voyage in a 16-foot open motor boat. But Linden B. Pents and wife of Seattle do. They are making the trip from Seattle to Skagway, Alaska, now. It was all planned as an outing for their six-month-old daughter, Jean. She, of course, is accompanying them, sleeping in a non-sinkable crib amidship. "Serago," the goat that will furnish fresh milk for Baby Jean; "No-See-Um," the cat, and "Sourdough," the dog, make up the rest of the "crew."

NEW ENVOY?—Viscount Kikuchi Ichi soon may succeed Masanao Hanihara as Japanese Ambassador to the United States, according to latest reports from Tokyo. The viscount has held many important state and diplomatic posts, including the ambassadorship to France.

FINAL TRIBUTE TO NAVY DEAD.—Top, the last solemn rites for the forty-eight officers and men killed in the explosion aboard the battleship Mississippi in San Pedro, Calif., harbor. The flag-draped caskets, banked with flowers, lay in a hollow square of sailors. To the left of them sits a group of relatives of the dead. Under the magnovox tower, Rear Admiral Knoulton is paying the navy's tribute to the men who died in line of duty. Bottom, sailors from the ill-fated vessel stood guard over the officers' caskets, set slightly apart from the other coffins during the services.

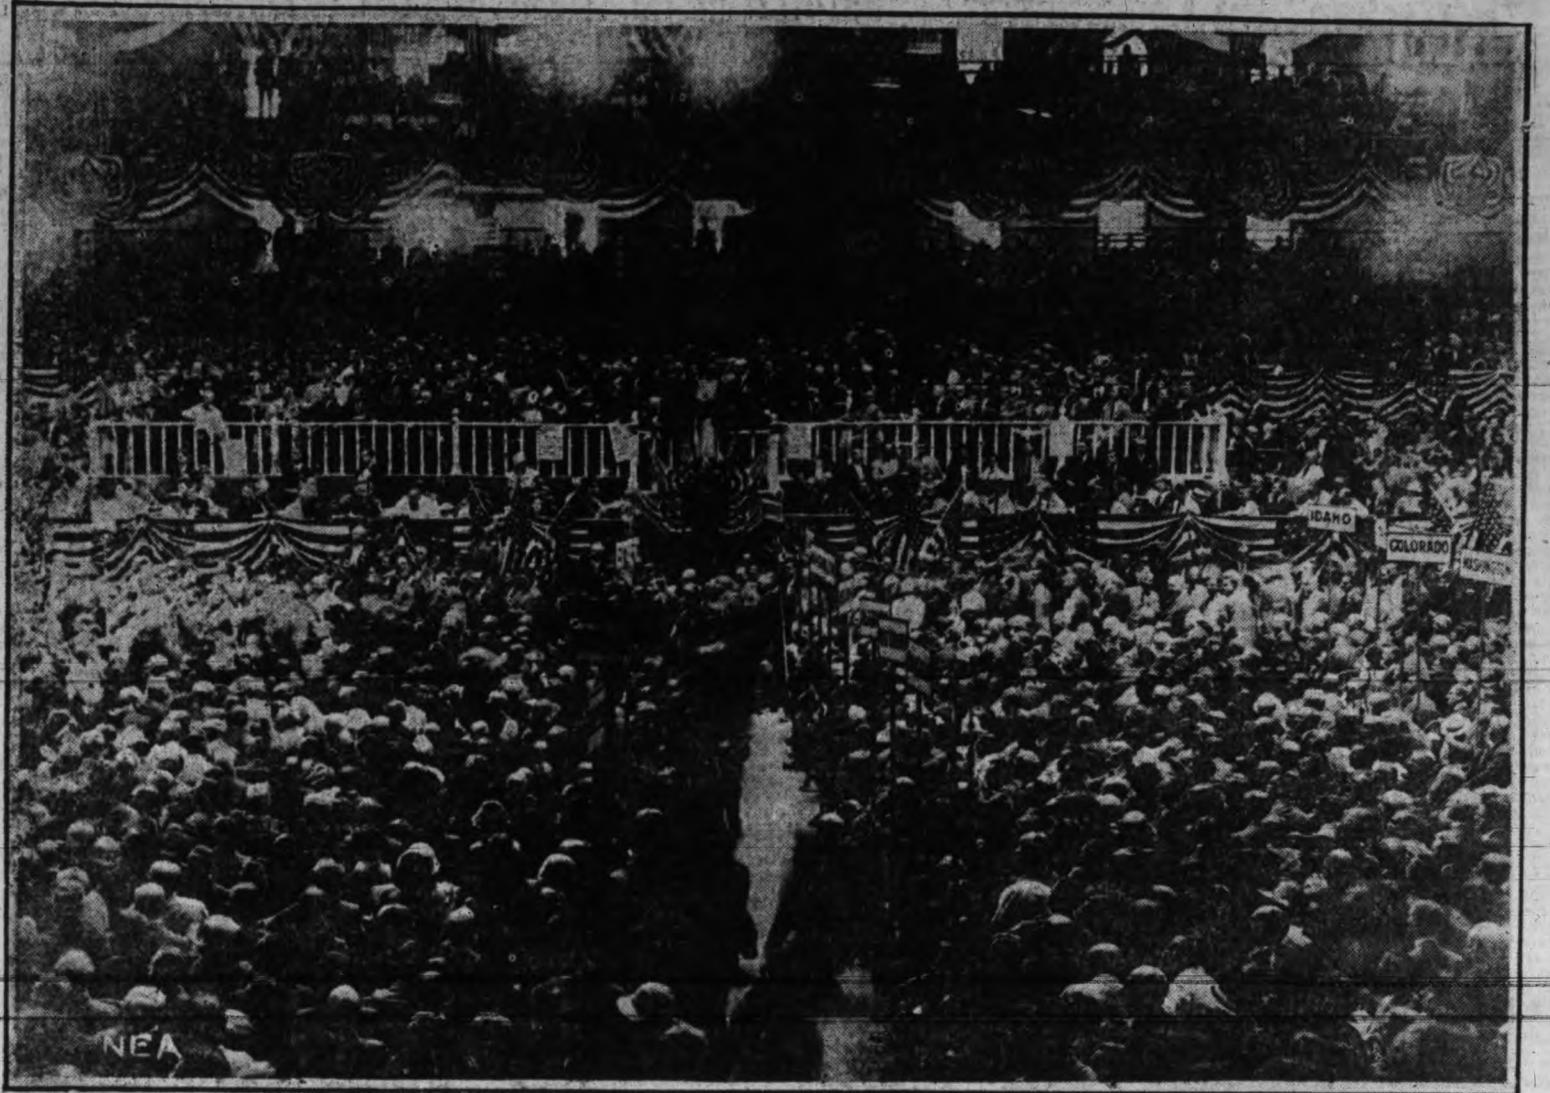

PYROMANIAC.—Josephine Bartholme, sixteen-year-old inmate of the Hope Development Home for Mentally Deficient Girls, near Los Angeles, has confessed, according to juvenile authorities, that she started the fire which killed twenty-four other inmates and the superintendent of the institution. "I did it because I didn't like the home," she is reported to have said.

SCHOOL DAYS

Close-up view of the Convention Hall just after the delegates had been called to order by Cordell Hull, temporary chairman. On the platform can be seen Hull, Norman E. Mack, Alfred E. Smith, Cardinal Hayes, Anna Case, noted soprano who sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," and others who were prominent in the opening session. All delegates and those on the speaker's platform are turned to the left to face the lights for the official picture of the convention. In all of its colorful history, old Madison Square Garden, New York City, never before held so many notable persons at the same time.

"SKOFFLAW" STATUE SQUELCHED.—This is the statue of Father Knickerbocker that caused all the trouble. Placed above the Hotel Astor as a welcome sign to Democratic Convention visitors in New York it showed the traditional figure holding a huge stein of beer—real, frothy beer, such as symbolized hospitality in the Knickerbocker era. But forms of hospitality change and so thousands were shouting "skofflaw" as they passed the statue. It was declared a symbol of wet revolt. Father Knickerbocker said he would rather lose his good right arm than his stein. And so they sawed off his arm, and in place of the stein now stands a formal "Welcome"—as the picture shows.

JERRY BECAME A GOOD COP!—Jerry is a scrappy English bull terrier. Two years ago his old master brought him to the Minneapolis city pound to be executed, for Jerry, he said, was the meanest dog he ever knew. But Jerry managed to make friends with "Cy," the chief executioner, and the day of his execution was deferred. One day "Cy" heard a tumult in a nearby camp. Jerry was engaged in a terrific combat with a timber wolf. "Cy" and his aides came to the dog's rescue and succeeded in dragging the wolf to the pound. She has lived there ever since. But the other day, she heard the call of the wild again. Jerry followed her. The poundmaster found him tugging away at Nellie's steel cable, trying to haul her back to her kennel.

WITH BURST OF MUSIC, NEW YORK OPENED HER DOORS.—With bands playing and flags waving, New York officially opened her doors to visiting delegates to the convention with a municipal parade on Fifth Avenue. Thousands marched and many more thousands watched. Arrow indicates Madison Square Garden, where the political rumpus has been staged for the last ten days.

HE DISOBEYED!—This man, held as one of the members of the gang that participated in the daring Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul mail train robbery near Rondout, Ill., was found with bullet wounds in his jaw, chest and arms in a rooming house in Chicago. He had been shot, police say, by one of the leaders of the band because he had not followed out orders as quickly as expected. He was booked as J. H. Wayne.

IN MAIL CAR ROBBERY.—Cash and negotiable securities totaling between $100,000 and $3,000,000, according to various estimates, were obtained by a group of bandits who held up a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train near Rondout, Ill. A number of arrests have been made. Picture at the top shows crew of mail clerks that was held up. In the lower photo is seen the window that was shattered by a bomb hurled by the robbers.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

STEADY CLOSE PRECEDES HOLIDAY

New York, July 3 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—The tone of the market was inclined to be easy during the forenoon but the list gathered strength in the afternoon as dealers in the last couple of days there has been quite a little pre-holiday profit taking but liquidation has been absorbed easily and in a rather competent manner and prices have ground gradually.

Profit taking that has taken place has been without its counterpart in technical foundation somewhat and at the close to-night more bullish expressions were heard. Private recollections indicate some betterment in the steel business. Naturally any signs of constructive occurrences in this endeavor are generally pointed to with satisfaction.

It seems to be rather definitely observed that trade in general while somewhat spotted insofar as recovery is concerned, is as a general proposition resting on a very firm foundation with increased activity in the form of increase in turnover in many lines of endeavor. Current and immediate rates for accommodation in the money market are every encouraging to the initiation of employment funds in a large way in the investment department and the effect of a strong investment market situation should not be without its controlling dictations to probably a goodly degree in semi-investment and speculative quarters.

STRENGTH AT CLOSE IN NEW YORK MARKET

New York, July 3 (By B. A. Bond)—The stock market started a trifle lower this morning and was inclined to sell off during the first half hour, but thereafter the market recovered and the close was sufficient to cause good buying throughout the day.

The Southern Railway and Northern Pacific feature the improvement in the transportation shares as the Condor Oil rallied. Two points quite easily. American Gas shows a very tight market position and reports indicate the existence of a widespread account. There was little disposition to press the market after the first hour's trading and the fact that the stock strengthened during the last hour without any material increase in the volume of business caused quite a little short covering around the close. Outside longs have accepted profits and in many instances have sold short on the theory that a reaction is due, so that the market is in a rather strong position, and no doubt would respond quickly to good convention news.

SAGGING TENDENCY IN CHICAGO WHEAT

Chicago, July 3 (By R. P. Clark & Company Limited)—Wheat: Long in many cases did not care to stay in the market over the holiday and there was a moderate liquidation to-day with a heavy tone. On the breaking there was a good class of buyers but the demand did not follow the advances, although Winnipeg was strong and the wheat market over the western crop outlook, while Liverpool and foreign markets generally were strong. The cash demand was slow with some export business indicated in Gulf wheat, though on no big scale as yet. The weather in Western Canada continues with temperature generally higher but this failed to stimulate much buying here while the weakness in the corn market was a depressing influence.

The market appears to have a liberal supply on all the rallies, but on setbacks we believe there will be good buying and that the ultimate course of prices will be higher as world wheat conditions are legitimately strong.

Corn: Better weather caused heavy selling of corn with much lower prices. At times the market was inclined to rally but the upturns found plenty of corn for sale. The cash market was relatively weak and this had some effect. The cash sales were $5.00 bushels and receipts increased a little, the run being seventy-five thousand bushels.

Iowa state report was bullish and confirmed the lateness of the crop with poor condition in regard to the cultivation and weeds.

Argentine shipments were estimated at 7,200,000 bushels. The market should develop a healthier status on any further decline.

Wheat: Both cash and futures were weak and scattered, long selling coupled with commission house pressure generally. Offerings were a little larger in cash crowd with demand moderate early, although sales were 100,000 bushels. Crop news reflects improvement recently but there is no prospect for an early run of oats.

Chicago, July 3 (By B. A. Bond)—Wheat futures in this market were inclined to sag despite the strength in Winnipeg and the three-day holiday in the United States. Selling was not very insistent, although the September delivery worked down to 115¢ again and closed at the bottom. Corn and Oats were weaker on good weather and a drop in cash Oats of 3 to 4 cents. News on wheat is bullish. Europeans are reported good buyers, and the trade seems to be looking for a rise in prices. The technical position, however, in wheat seems to be somewhat weak, inasmuch as the probability of a further advance has been too well advertised. The market has rested at these levels for a few days though and might easily resume the upswing next week.

Love Stakes

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"You must take good care of Barry," Mrs. Amory went on plaintively. "He's always been a favorite of mine, an awfully good friend and so sympathetic over my poor little troubles. I don't think he's looking very gay of late, do you? He seems to have become so serious all of a sudden, so much older—do you suppose," she lowered her voice, "do you think it's his brother who's worrying him?"

The eager, hopeful look of the gossip had flashed into Mrs. Amory's eyes, and Natalie, loathed to discuss the Sheldon's intimate affairs with anyone, most of all with her neighbor, Amory, deftly avoided a reply by turning the conversation back to Mrs. Amory's prospective trip.

"I was never so disappointed, to have to miss your wedding!" Mrs. Amory sighed, though Natalie knew that the trip was only a pretext to avoid attending a ceremony which sealed a sentimental defeat of her own. "How I envy you—to be marrying the man you love to-morrow."

"His voice was wistful and her sigh was designed to convey to her audience that she was looking back across the years to her own loveless marriage day."

She drifted on, a pathetic, frail little figure, and Constance Deering whispered in Natalie's ear: "I'd like to shake her, the little cat! The idea of wasting all those histrionics on a girl's tea party! She ought to go back to the pages of a Jane Austen novel where she belongs. Her kind of vamping isn't done any more."

Natalie shook her head smilingly. "You'll have to admit she's effective."

"With doddering old men and seventeen-year-old boys," sniffed Mrs. Deering. "No man in his right senses would fall for that stuff."

"Aren't we being rather disloyal in criticizing our guest?" Natalie suggested with a shrug.

"Don't be so righteous!" admonished Mrs. Deering impatiently. "I haven't any scruples when it comes to dealing with a woman who cheats an indulgent husband the way she does, even if he is much older than she is, and uninteresting. If she doesn't watch her step more closely, first thing she knows she won't be received by society any longer."

The early autumn dusk had fallen when Natalie drove back to her own apartment to dress for her bridesmaid's dinner. The afternoon had been a torture in some ways, the evening promised to be even more unendurable. She wondered—if she had the strength and the courage to go through with this night which should, by rights, have been one of the happiest of her life—when she reminded herself that this was only the beginning of her fight, her courage broke, and, putting her head on the tonneau upholstery, she cried all the way home.

Barry's mother was waiting in Natalie's pretty, gay, little drawing-room with its charming chintzes and the shaded candle-light softly illuminating copper bowls of pale autumn roses.

Marie met her mistress at the door and announced the caller, so Natalie snatched a moment to bathe her salted eyes and powder the reddened lids before going in to greet her prospective mother-in-law.

But the older woman's keen, affectionate eyes were not deceived. She saw a girl, slim and cool, and lovely, in shimmering white and silver brocade. The pale gold-hair that crowned the patrician head was bound with a jeweled fillet. Her gown revealed exquisite shoulders and slim, flawless arms. She seemed scarcely mortal in her dazzling beauty, rather like some Galatea briefly loaned by a malicious god for the humbling of humanity.

Never before had she been so passionately glad to see her lover. Always before she had accepted the fact of her beauty carelessly, enjoying it as one enjoys beautiful things who do not know the ugly. It had not made her vain to be called lovely. Her beauty had never spoiled her, as made her selfish, or potent, or arrogant. She had not even used it to make her life more comfortable, as she loved her, whether she would it or not. For another, she would not care, for there had never been a time when her heart hadn't been given unreservedly to Barry.

Now she realized what a tremendous asset her beauty was. It was her weapon, the bludgeon she must use to win the man who would, to-morrow this time, be her husband.

Sitting there before her dressing table with her eyes on her own gleaming reflection, she felt a sudden summons to go before her last glimpse of Mrs. Amory's nondescript face and figure, she told herself that she had little to fear.

But before the thought was fairly formed, Marie handed her the box containing her fiancé's flowers. She lifted out a great, fragrant cluster of roses, and Natalie, with a gasp, saw a sealed envelope. The card in it said: "To the bride, from the groom."

She picked it up, tore it open and read, in Barry's familiar hand: "Let these few flowers speak for me the fewest words there is to say—good-bye."

For a long minute after she had read the card written in Barry's familiar hand, Natalie sat motionless, scarcely breathing. She grasped the tiny bit of pasteboard in fingers suddenly grown icy cold. She stared at it stupidly.

The valley-lilies lay forgotten in her lap. Their fragrance, poured forth from each tiny, cool, white bell, seemed a reproach to her neglect. Marie, moving noiselessly about putting away unwanted garments, eyed her mistress curiously.

The Lady-smith Extension Colliery Band was in attendance, and during the day played several selections, which were greatly enjoyed. Children's sports, both on the land and in the water, were indulged in. A good idea of the day and the crowd can be gathered when the soft drink stand disposed of over 1,200 bottles of soft drinks. Grade 1a to Grade 1—Lillian Castley, Marie Miller. With regard to the building of a new schoolhouse, it has always been taken for granted by the residents that the Education Department would meet the entire cost. The board of trustees, however, is in receipt of a communication from the department of Education stating that the department is prepared to meet fifty per cent of the cost of a schoolhouse. The matter will be brought up for discussion at the annual school meeting on Saturday, July 12.

HOW "TIZ" HELPS SORE, TIRED FEET
Good-bye, sore feet, burning feet, swollen feet, aching feet, smelly feet, tired feet. Good-bye, corns, callouses, bunions and raw spots. No more shoe tightness, no more limping with pain or drawing up your face in agony. "Tiz" is magical, acts right off. "Tiz" draws out all the poisonous exudates which swell up the feet. Use special prize donated by L. F. Warden to winner of most events awarded to Kenneth Sellens.
